

Your kids are really smart,
they know how to get good grades and may know how to get marijuana without you knowing it.

Even “model” teenagers are at risk of marijuana use, so it’s time to learn how to protect them from it.

There is a misconception that outstanding grades and a good family upbringing are enough to keep kids from marijuana. But Asian-American teenagers are at risk everyday. Statistics show that almost one in six Asian Americans ages 12–17 have used illegal drugs. You can make a difference by taking the time to talk with your children about the pressures. You can help them learn how to say no to marijuana.

Setting a firm “no-drugs” rule will help your children find their way around the various pressures to use marijuana. As a parent, your role in protecting your children from marijuana is crucial.
